OUR EMCEE

Richard Lui

MSNBC Anchor

Richard Lui has been an MSNBC dayside anchor since September 2010. He has anchored some of the network's major breaking stories, including the 2011 debt-ceiling debate, the Arab Spring, and the deficit supercommittee failure. His daily reports have included the Tea Party movement, candidates' social media strategies, and the link of unemployment to electability.

Lui has spent 25 years in community service in Africa, Asia, and the United States, volunteering for organizations like the United States Capitol Historical Society, the Asian Pacific American Institute for Congressional Studies, and APIA Vote.
